

Application sends messages to the queue that handles messages of the designated priority

All messages in a queue have the same priority

